ATTRACTIVE TRIFLES.

Gone Are the White Shirt Waist and Black Skirt—Bretonne Embroidery. Unless for strict utility and a matter of necessary economy the useful and comfortable white shirt waist is no longer worn with a black skirt without a coat. Of course this combination is seen a dozen times a day, but it is no longer considered good style. Instead one should wear a cotton or

A CHECKED BATHING SUIT—5708.

Men shirt waist suit or at least a blouse of harmonizing tone with the skirt.

Bretonne embroidery is very smart when used judiciously on linen frocks. It is well to remember that a little goes a long way.

The summer girl with her afternoon gown makes a point of being exquisitely shod. Frenchwomen are so anxious about keeping their ankles trim that many of them scorn the idea of wearing slippers or low shoes in the day.

Crystal beads are much in evidence on the new black frocks. Some gowns are literally sown with these glittering dewdrops, while coral and gold beads bring quite a new note into the embroideries of the day, and hammered aluminum sequins are seen with great effect.

Among the prettiest of the summer frocks are those of batiste in delicate tints of blue, pink, lavender and ecru, embroidered in eyelets of the same shade.

The Mayfair II. belt is as popular as the original Mayfair. It is made of heavy basket weave silk elastic, with kid ends that match the elastic in color, and finished with a severely plain gold buckle. This new belt comes in black, white and all the new shades.

The attractive bathing suit illustrated is of checked mohair, white, with lines of black, and is trimmed with plain black taffeta. The effect is exceedingly chic. JUDIC CHOLLET.

QUAINT CONCEITS.

Adapting a Last Season's Hat to the Modish Mushroom Shape.

The milliner who is clever will take a last summer's leghorn and bend it down all the way round. She will trim it with a heavy silk ruching of some color to contrast with the hat, usually a blue upon a leghorn color. At one side she will fasten three or four ostrich feathers that will fall over the top of the hat and trail a little at one side, and thus she will turn out a very acceptable mushroom hat.

For the swimmer nothing has been found more satisfactory in the matter of a cap than the bandanna kerchief worn cornerwise. It is not a new arrangement for the hair, but it has the advantage of being an excellent protection for the hair, and, another point in its favor, it takes up little room on or off the head.

Tulle edged with ostrich feathers is used as a hat trimming and looks deliciously soft and dainty. Many women are wearing a black hat with their light gowns.

It is noticeable that some of the smartest dresses have quite tight and long sleeves. This points to the disappearance of the elbow sleeves and those known as the kimono.

The blue jewelry sets are remarkable this season. They are so numerous and of such variety that one can have half a dozen sets without repeating oneself at all. The shirt waist enamel sets have many points of novelty this year, and very pretty ones at
